FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

The New York Markets.

New York, August 11.—Abnormal weather and tight money combined to curtail operations in the securities market during the week to insignificant proportions, but substantial progress toward higher levels prevailed.

The heat and the credit restrictions suggested by the Local Federal Reserve bank on "non-productive" business often counter-balanced the impressive daily war dispatches, but these became a potent influence later in the week.

Investors as well as bankers took further account of the mounting cost of the war and discussions in congress regarding the revenue bill together with the high cost of labor, the coming Liberty Loan and arrangement for financing the crops.

Significance attached to the coming voluntary dissolution of the International Harvester Co., because the principles involved in that case are believed to apply to other large industrial organizations all under judicial review.

Rails suffered on announcement of a clearer understanding between Washington and owners of railroad securities, and the adoption of a modified form of rental contract, safeguarding net incomes and dividends.

Coppers mildly expressed the disappointment of refiners and producers at the refusal of the War Board to revise the existing price schedule.

TEACHER QUILTS JOB; WON'T TEACH GERMAN

Syracuse, N. Y.—Rather than continue the teaching of German at Saranac Lake, N. Y., Miss Mabel N. Everett, Syracuse university graduate, has resigned her position in the public schools of that place.

"The teaching of German has become more and more distasteful all this year," she says. "Pupils objected to continuing the course, and in most cases merely kept it up to get their credits, that they might enter college."

Ralph B. Everett, Miss Everett's brother, is now in France with the Twenty-third engineers.

BIG SPAGNUM MOSS ORDER

Seattle Red Cross to Make About Twelve Carloads of Surgical Dressings.

Seattle, Wash.—Two hundred and fifty thousand spagnum-moss surgical dressings, or about twelve carloads, will be turned out by the Seattle Red Cross before September 1. Seattle has been asked to make half of the half million allotment for the Northwest.

Spagnum moss is gathered in the swamps on the north bank of the Columbia river near its mouth. The moss is assorted, thoroughly dried, and then prepared for dressings.

A Pleasant Surprise.

A large number of the friends of Carl VanBuren made him a very happy surprise, Friday evening last at the VanBuren home on Division street. Carl has enlisted and will leave Thursday morning, August 15, for Ithaca, where he is to enter a training school for mechanical work for service in the United States army.

A very delightful evening was spent with games and music. Delicious refreshments were served, and just before the guests departed a substantial token of remembrance was presented to Carl with the best wishes of every one present.

In Aviation Corps.

Alex Carson is home from Boston, Mass., where he is a cadet in the aviation corps and a candidate for a pilot's commission. His uniform is a novelty here, but no unattractive.

For the floral tributes and all other evidences of regard for the deceased we are especially grateful.

NOTICE TO NERVOUS WOMEN

Mrs. Selbert Tells How You Can Overcome Nervous Conditions.

Louisville, Ky.—"I suffered badly from nervousness, a run-down condition, no appetite and pains in my back—until I just had to give up. A friend told me about Vinol and I felt better after taking the second bottle. Now I have a good appetite and am feeling fine, strong and healthy in every way."—Mrs. I. F. Selbert.

The reason Vinol was so successful in Mrs. Selbert's case, is because it contains the very elements needed to build up a weakened, run-down system, make rich, red blood and create strength.

CLASSIC DRAMA IN JAPAN

Both Chorus and Music Accompany the Pantomime of the Actors on the Stage.

The actors—sons of the sons of generations of actors passing on as a legacy of great price to the right to act in these strange "No" plays of old Japan—entered and made their exits by way of the bridge. At their approach, Gertrude Emerson writes in Asia, unseen hands lifted and held back a curtain of persimmon and iris colored silk that hung at the door of the dressing room. Their costumes had wide skirtlike trousers and all the fires and conflagrations of an autumn wood or a mountain forest burned in the color of the brocades. Sometimes they had the streaming white hair of ghosts. They stamped with their white stockinged feet on the polished floor, which gave out a muffled echo. With their flowing sleeves they hid their faces, turning and swaying in rhythmic dances. With their fans they wrote the meaning of their dances in the air—the climbing of a mountain path to a forsaken shrine, a gift of water to a weary pilgrim, the picking of herbs, the flight of a bird across the sky, the falling of flowers—or of tears. The chorus sang in suppressed tones, holding their breath later, explaining, now the action, now the thoughts passing through the mind of the actor. The music beat on their drums and above all other sounds waited the flute, thin and tremulous, piercingly sad, like a lost soul tormented of demons.

TALLEST MAN IN MARINES

Former Mail Clerk, 6 Feet 5½ Inches Tall, Enlists in Service at Baltimore.

Baltimore, Md.—Uncle Sam now has 6 feet 5½ inches of real U. S. marine. He is Carroll William Doggett, twenty-five years old, a mail clerk of this city.

When the 77½ inches of humanity strolled into the local recruiting station, the officers in charge had the shock of their young lives.

After some little difficulties, which included bumping his head on the electric light fixtures in the ceiling, the lengthy caller managed to get down into a chair.

Upon examination he was told he was 3½ inches too tall and 26 pounds underweight. So Doggett got busy and after much work and worry arranged for a waiver from Washington. He is the tallest man in the marine corps.

HOW MRS. BOYD AVOIDED AN OPERATION

Canton, Ohio.—"I suffered from a female trouble which caused me much suffering, and two doctors decided that I would have to go through an operation before I could get well. My mother, who had been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, advised me to try it before submitting myself to an operation. It relieved me from my troubles so I can do my housework without any difficulty. I advise any woman who is afflicted with female troubles to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial, and it will do as much for them."—Mrs. MAUD BOYD, 1421 5th St., N. E., Canton, Ohio.

Sometimes there are serious conditions where a hospital operation is the only alternative, but on the other hand so many women have been cured by this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, after doctors have said that an operation was necessary—every woman who wants to avoid an operation should give it a fair trial before submitting to such a trying ordeal.

If complications exist, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for advice. The result of many years experience is at your service.

No Alimony From Soldiers.

The supreme court of New York state has no power to enforce an order for alimony against a soldier in the United States army, declared Justice Aspinall in the supreme court in Brooklyn in the case of Mrs. Florence Merriman against Rapley P. Merriman, a private. It is the first decision of its kind here. Justice Aspinall gave the opinion in acting upon the request of Mrs. Merriman's attorney, who demanded Merriman be forced to pay $40 on the first business day of each month. "It is obvious that the defendant could not comply with a direction that he pay $40 on the first business day of each month," said the justice, "when $40 is more than the rate of pay of his grade, and the time of payment of a soldier is necessarily very irregular."—New York Evening Sun.

THE ALLIES DRIVE AHEAD.

It is not so long ago that the Allies in all countries were in a sense whistling to keep up their courage.
The big German offensive, which began in March had to an uncomfortable degree been successful. Even if the goal which the Hun had set had not in any instance been fully attained, they had at least in each sector driven ahead, and their gains had in each case brought them nearer to the three objectives—the capture of Paris, the capture of the Channel ports and the separation of the British and French armies by the great wedge driven to the west and south west. Any one of these if attained would have been a staggering blow to the Allies, which so far as could be seen were content to mark time while waiting for the arrival of the Americans, to put up such defense as was possible without losing too many lives, and to fall back when the defense became too costly to be continued.

This was the way it looked. In part at least it was true, since there is no doubt that at the beginning of the spring drive the Allies were outnumbered, largely on account of the Germans who, released in Russia, had been brought in on the French offensive. Americans were coming, but not in numbers sufficient to justify the Allied general-in-chief to risk all upon the hazard. Accordingly he waited, he made each attack by the Germans as costly to them as possible, and he withdrew without waiting for a possible rout and disastrous losses.

In the meantime the Americans were pouring in, hundreds of thousands and finally more than a million of them; and General Foch, believing the time auspicious, launched the long waited, and by some almost despaired of counter offensive. Its success from the first showed how well he had understood the situation. He had taken the German tide at its full and as it ebbed, he has followed it back toward the points from which, in March last, it flowed forth so full and, as the Kaiser believed, so overwhelming. Not in the Marne salient alone have the Allies been successful, though had that been all it would have been success most gratifying.
On the wrecked and ruined plains of Picardy the federation for liberty has made gains as notable, and even further north, where the early drive for the Channel ports rested, there has been a backward movement on the part of the enemy. Surely it was a great day for humanity when General Foch, seeing the situation more broadly than those with less opportunities could do, believed the time was come to drive ahead.

It is probably too much to expect the drive this summer to end the war.
It may require another year, with losses far heavier than yet are known, to do that. It is not too early, however, to expect another peace offensive on the part of the Germans.
What these peace propositions amount to the Allies have had abundant opportunity to know. Russia, knows, and Rumania and Italy, escaping by the skin of her teeth, knows equally well. There can be no conference looking to peace with a nation without honor unless that nation is definitely defeated. When the time for peace comes, the Allies will have the making of the terms.

Also, it may be assumed, there will be no favorable consideration of terms of conciliation and arbitration submitted by Spain or Holland.
These profiteering nations have played no honorable part in the past four years, even as neutrals. In fact Switzerland, surrounded and distressed, shines like a star when compared with them. It is not a war for peoples which have held aloft while the fate of humanity was in the balance to meddle in the settlement of.

SEEING THE STATE FAIR.

One Boy from Otsego Will Have All Expenses Paid by State.

One boy from Otsego county may attend the State fair this fall as a member of the Farm Boys' camp. The entire expenses of this boy will be borne by the state. Applicants will be examined at the Farm bureau office in Cooperstown, at 1 p. m. August 31, by the Pomona Grange master, the agricultural agent and District Superintendent John B. McManus.

Business Must Go On.

Not everyone is called to go in government service or into any other service which is closely associated with war work. Someone must keep the home fires burning. Business must go on or the nation cannot live. Someone must earn money with which to pay the bills of the government. If everyone worked for Uncle Sam he would soon be bankrupt. In many cases it is just as much of a patriotic act to attend to the every-day duties as to carry a gun, sail a ship or fly a machine through the clouds. This should be a comforting thought for those who are unable physically or because of dependents or any other reason, to go to the front.—[Brattleboro Reformer.]

LOSES AN ABLE LEGISLATOR

Tribute of Well-Known Washington Correspondent to Congressman Fairchild.

The numerous friends in his home city of Congressman George W. Fairchild will be interested in the following press note, which lately was sent out by a leading newspaper correspondent in Washington, and which has been widely published in leading journals throughout the country. It is such a tribute to comes infrequently to a member of the house, and it is as well-deserved as it is complimentary. The article says:

"Not only the State of New York, but the entire nation will suffer a loss because of the decision of Representative George W. Fairchild not to be a candidate for return to his present seat. As a resident of an up-state district, he is thoroughly familiar with the problems of the rural communities. As a manufacturer closely associated with large business affairs in New York city and throughout the country, he is familiar with the problems that affect the financial interests of the nation. He has also made a thorough study of European business conditions. His twelve years in congress, his service on the most important committee in the House of Representatives—that of the ways and means—and the conference reposed in him by his associates and business men of all lines of industry are assets that the country should utilize to the utmost, especially during the coming period of re-construction and re-adjustment. When the war is over, the United States will have a debt enormous, beyond anything any person would have deemed within the range of possibility. The payment of that debt is a task to be met by congress, and the plans must be formulated largely by the ways and means committee.

"Never before in our history was it more important to have men of sound business judgment and large business experience in positions of influence and authority. Although a staunch Republican, he is in no sense narrow in his partisanship. Like a large majority of the other Republicans in congress, he has supported all the measures essential to the speeding up of the war. There was a good reason in his case for the expressed desire of Secretary McAdoo and the innumerate desire of Postmaster General Burleson and the White House, that Mr. Fairchild be returned to congress.
It is unfortunate that he finds the burdens of public business so large that he can not add to them the arduous and time-consuming task of conducting a primary campaign. It is to Mr. Fairchild's credit that he gives up the campaign rather than abandon his duties at this time on the ways and means committee."

THE ART PRESERVATIVE.

Finely Exemplified in Year Book of Oneonta State Normal.

The year book for 1918 of the Oneonta State Normal school has just come from the press and within a day or two all subscribers to the limited edition, which was printed, will no doubt receive their copy.
Though possibly a little delayed, it is a work worth waiting for, and will be cherished by the graduates whose good fortune it is to have "18" after their names.

The year book, which is entitled "The Anno," consists of 50 large pages of heavy plate paper tastefully printed and bound and with numerous pictures which will be enduring memorials of student life to the class. They are not only the regulation pictures of school building and faculty and class, but scenes like the May day frolic, groups like the several societies and clubs, reminders of stirring incidents like the purchase of the Normal Red Cross ambulance, and a round half dozen of cartoons and caricatures, every one with a point. The text also is pertinent and embraces many things not included in the usual run of year books.
Altogether and in every way the book is creditable to the Herald office, which typographically looked after it, to the school which it represents, and to the class and its capable committee which had general charge.

TWO TOWNS MAY VOTE AGAIN.

Judge Welch Grants Show-Cause Order Regarding License in Richfield.

On Friday last the order of Judge Welch was filed in the county clerk's office, granting the petition of Otto Sengwald of Richfield Springs against the state commissioner of excise, to show cause why the four local option questions voted on last November in that township should not be resubmitted to the electors at a special election to be held within thirty days from the filing date. Concerning the order, the Gummerglas on Friday
says:

"The case grows out of the recent decision in the town of New Hartford of a legal technicality that the questions were not properly submitted to the voters, in that the published avertices of the submission of the questions were posted by the town clerk instead of the county election commissioners. This same legal error occurred in about forty towns throughout the state where Local Option was voted upon last fall.
"Mr. Sengwald has as his attorneys Southworth & Scanlon of Utica who were the attorneys in the New Hartford case while Commissioner Sisson will be defended by Harry D. Sanders esq. with Julian Scott esq. of counsel.
"The Gummerglas is led to believe that a similar action is about to be taken in the town of Otsego.

Appointed General Boiler Inspector.

The many friends of Thomas P. Dugan, formerly of Oneonta, will be pleased to hear of his recent appointment to general boiler inspector over the D. & H. system.

COMMENTS OF THE PRESSWhat Is Wrong?

What is wrong with many of our contemporaries of the so-called religious press? Why do they not manfully declare their passion to win the war?
We cannot escape the impression that they have not quite satisfied themselves about its "spiritual" integrity.
They certainly do not make its righteousness burn in their editorials and news. They do not set out the issue forthright and downright. If they are not slackers they are shrinkers. They simply cannot stand up to the ordeal with their sons and brothers "over there." It is too terrible. What a pity! The best they can make of it is that it is the world's sorry way of settling great issues. Their timorous approach to the chronicle of battle, their temporizing with those who may fairly be called pacifists, their omission from the columns of the grim but glorious facts that are being achieved for their security, amaze us and distress us. They are falling ingloriously in their duty.—[Christian Register.]

Georgia Editor Satisfied.

Most folks find fault with the ways of the world. They don't like the weather. It is either too hot or too cold. They don't like the seasons and they see many things that need reforming according to their view. For that reason it is refreshing to run across an editor who is suited with prevailing conditions. He runs the Adams Enterprise in Georgia and says: "We're well satisfied with the way the world rolls. Had we been there to give instructions whilst it was in the making we couldn't have improved on it."—[Utica Press.]

A Pleasant Imagination.

As there is no law against giving imagination free license, we like to imagine the possibility of a train of drillable torp-ees, each as large as a battleship, sent up Helioland way, and a flock of dirigible aerial torpedoes sent to the Rhine fortifications.
The Krupp works and Berlin. The "rub" is in the dirigibility.—[Springfield Republican.]

Old Mates at Odds.

It was something of a shock when at Le Chateau British battalions who bear "Gibraltar" on their colors first encountered Hanoverian units with the same distinction, won by their ancestors when hired by George III. in his capacity as King of Hanover to help in Eliott's famous defense of the rock.
—[London Spectator.]

New Campaigning.

"How's politics?"
"Looking up. Three gentlemen candidates are doing my reaping for me and a couple of lady candidates are helping mother put up preserves."—

LOCAL MENTION.

Only a Railroad Brakeman.
(Mrs. Katharine Delaney.)
Only a lump of clay.
Only a soul that was pure and sweet Freed from its prison today.
Only a railroad brakeman.
Here on the railroad ties, Surrounded by comrades and strangers.
His mangled body lies.
He went to his work in the morning With never a thought of fear;
No sign, no word or warning To tell him that death was near.
Only a railroad brakeman.
With the stamp of death on his brow Blood stained his handsome features Beauty is gone from them now.
Only a railroad brakeman.
Released from his earthly pain.
Only a voice ringing clear and true That will never be heard again.
Only a railroad brakeman.
Is there not one of you here Who, for the sake of a brother Will offer a sign or a tear?
Only a railroad brakeman.
Who toiled for his daily bread.
One moment strong and happy;
The next—lying still and dead.
Of soldiers and sailors and statesmen You constantly, ceaselessly prate But an every-day railroad brakeman, What do you care for his fate?
Mrs. Catherine Delaney.

MCKEAN WINS SEMI-FINALS.

But Loses in the Final Round to Sherill Sherman of Utica.

S. E. McKean has returned from Utica, where on Saturday he finished second in the Red Cross golf tournament on the links of the Yahnundasis club, losing the final round to Sherill Sherman, son of the late Vice President James S. Sherman, who is a ver-eteran player and has been a runner up in national tournaments. His record is exceedingly gratifying to his friends here, who think it is a very creditable showing for the first time in an event of that character.

In the morning Saturday in the semi-finals Mr. McKean won from Arthur Yates of the Oak Hill club of Rochester, 2 up and 1 to play. The score of that match being as follows:
McKean 4, 5, 3, 4, 5, 4, 3, 4, 4, 6, 4, 4, 4, 6, 4, 3, 4—74.
Yates 5, 5, 3, 4, 4, 5, 2, 5, 5, 5, 4, 5, 4, 6, 4, 4—75.

Mr. McKean held Mr. Sherman well in the first nine holes, but in the last round the latter took four holes in succession and the match 5 up and 3 to play. The score follows:
McKean 4, 4, 4, 4, 5, 4, 5, 4, 3, 3, 7, 4, 6, 4, 6.
Sherman 4, 4, 5, 5, 4, 3, 4, 3, 4, 3, 7, 3, 5, 3, 5.

CORP. SLAVIN INJURED

FIRST ONEONTA SOLDIER BOY TO BE WOUNDED IN FRANCE.

Extracts From Letters From Various Men With the Colors in France and Other Items About Our Boys at the Front.

Corporal Charles R. Slavin, whose home is at 45 Prospect street, is the first Oneonta boy to be put out of commission by the Huns on the battle front. The news that young Slavin had been wounded was conveyed to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. A.
Slavin, late Saturday evening in the following telegram from the war department at Washington: "Deeply regret to inform you that Corporal Charles R. Slavin, infantry, was wounded in action July 18. Degree undetermined. Department has no other information."

Charles Slavin was one of the youngest of Oneonta's boys to enlist, he being only 19 years of age. He enlisted at the local government recruiting station in July, 1917, and was sent to Fort Slocum, where he was assigned to the "Fighting Ninth," as a private with Company K, and in less than four weeks was on his way over seas and was among the first of the American expeditionary force to reach France. The Fighting Ninth have been reported in the front of the fighting near Chateau-Thierry and it is doubtless in this sector that the young man was wounded.

In a letter to his brother, Frank J.
Kierns, of Scotia, Charles J. Kierns, well-known in this city, writing from France says: "I am in good health and while my regiment is in the lines we have not been up yet, but expect to go soon. We are in some stormy sector and not at all gun shy. The other day I witnessed one of the nicest shots since arriving here which brought down a Hun plane. It was noon time and the aviators fly high in the day time usually. The second shot made a hit, but it seemed as though it took 10 minutes, which of course it did not, for this plane to drop to earth it was so high. The French are great marksmen, especially with the heavy guns. They have a paper-printed in Paris called the New York Herald, but it is a day late when it gets to us. They get lots of news from the states in it. We have tobacco and cigarettes issued to us once a week so I don't need anything. I do wish you would send me the Oneonta Herald so that I can get the news from the old town."

Mr. Kierns address is Private Charles J. Kierns, Headquarters company, 27th Division, 308th Infantry, A. E. F., care New York postmaster.

Letter From Prison Camp.

The following message written on a postal card from a German prison camp was received in Utica, but will be of interest beyond doubt to all Star readers:

Camp of Prisoners of War, Cassel, Germany.

Company 5, Section 59.

April 4, 1918.

Dear mother: Just a line or two to let you know that I am still alive and in good health, and I hope that you all are the same. There is no need of me telling you where I am.
My address on the top indicates that.
I will write as soon as you get this card.
Well, I would be very glad if you will send me a parcel with something to eat, but don't send me nothing dear, such as butter, but you could send me some drippings or any other fats.
If you can, send me some soap and a towel, and ask Ned if he will send me a razor and some tobacco, but don't wrap anything up in a newspaper.
Send me a pot of jam and anything that is eatable, will be very thankful for them. Well, no more this time.
I will write as often as I can. Hope to hear from you soon, and hope this will find you all well. Remember me to all. Your son, GUTTO.

Meets Oneonta Boys.

In a letter to his wife at Cooperstown, Lieutenant Floyd J. Atwell, brother of Louis Atwell of this city writes as follows:
"Well, who do you I saw this mornings. None other than Fred Beach, who brought his men over to the bathhouse, and I happened along just as they were coming out. He is the first person I have seen whom I know from the States since I left the boat in April."

In a later letter he continues: "Saw Jesse Millard this morning and had a very nice visit with him. I got a lot of recent news from him and they say a lot of men I know came over on the boat with them. The landlord of the hotel where Millard is stopping can understand and talk English, and I told him that Captain Millard was a hotel man and had run a hotel in Oneonta and two at Cooperstown.
The landlord had heard of Cooperstown, N. Y., and he got out his hotel directory and looked up The Oneonta, Osego-ga, Five-Mile Point Inn and the Fenimore. Captain Millard told me that they treated him so well and seemed to know all about him and he could have anything the house afforded. On this trip Captain Millard wanted to buy extras for his company where I saw on the shelves many cans of condensed milk manufactured by the International Milk Products company of Cooperstown, N. Y. U. S. A. I can tell you it looked good to me."

SKIRT BLINDED HER

CAUSES ROADSTER DRIVEN BY MRS. M. J. BOGARDUS OF DO-VER, N. J., TO OVERTURN.

Peculiar Accident on Three-Mile-Point Road Along Osego Lake—Two Occupants Have Narrow Escape from Serious Injury.

Early yesterday afternoon, while Mrs. M. J. Bogardus of Dover, N. J., and Charles S. Stanton of Cooperstown were driving from his home in that village to Three-Mile Point in the Bogardus six-cylinder Buick roadster, with Mrs. Bogardus at the wheel, a sudden gust of wind blew her thin outer skirt upward, blinding or at least disconcerting her for the moment, and the car swerved to the right sufficiently to permit the right wheels to drop off the edge of the only unprotected culvert along that stretch of highway.
The car fell half sliding down about five feet, and eight or ten feet from the highway, nearly overturning. The top struck against the stout woven wire fence along the golf links of the Country club, which supported and prevented it from going completely over and doubtless saved both of them from serious if not fatal injuries. The only injuries either sustained, aside from the nervous shock, were slight contusions on the right leg of Mr.
Stanton. The seat of the car was tipped to an angle of nearly 90 degrees and it was with difficulty that they were able to climb out of their perilous position.

Mr. Bogardus, who is well known in the county and formerly was master mechanic and purchasing agent for the trolley company at Hartwick but now located at Dover, N. J., with a trolley company there, is, with Mrs. Bogardus, visiting Mr. and Mrs. Stanton at Cooperstown. Mr. Bogardus had just taken his wife and Mrs. Stanton to Three Mile point and Mrs. Bogardus, who drives more frequently than her husband, had returned to bring Mr.
Stanton to the lake shore, where they had planned an afternoon outing. The car was moving along about 15 miles an hour when the sudden gust of wind lifted the skirt of Mrs. Bogardus' summer dress across her eyes, blinding her so that she could not see the roadway, and before she could check the car or rearrange the garment the car was off the culvert and in the ditch.

When the car finally stopped, 10 feet from the roadway, it rested on its right side with the left wheels in the air and the under side of the chassis facing the macadam. Had the fence not held it the car would have gone completely over with serious results. The right front wheel was crushed and the fender broken and bent and the bumper badly twisted, but otherwise the car was unharmed.
It was towed to the garage of L. J.
Gross, where it will be repaired. Mr.
Bogardus hopes to be able to secure an extra wheel and to drive the car to Dover, leaving on Wednesday.
Friends of the two occupants certainly rejoice that they escaped so fortunately.

WITH "YIP YIP YAPHANK"

James E. O'Brien in the Military Musical Review by Camp Upton Boys.

James E. O'Brien, son of Mrs. Anna O'Brien of 44 Hunt street and well known in the city, is a member of the "Yip Yip Yaphank" company, the military musical review or "mess" announced as cooked up by The Boys of Camp Upton, which is to open at the Century theatre in New York city August 19 for a week or perhaps longer, after which they visit Washington and other cities. Three hundred boys from Camp Upton arrived in New York one day last week to commence rehearsals under the direction of Sergeant Irving Berlin, the song writer, and Private Will H. Smith.

Mr. O'Brien appears twice in the production, for which he worked hard and has been accorded due recognition. He appears in the first part with seven others from Upton in a ragging song upon the top of pianos, and in the second part he is a member of a platoon of 16 fellows who do a dancing act. In the platoon are some very clever dancers and the production, was recently witnessed by newspapermen and members of the Zig-zag Field Folies company, all of whom said that it would be the season's hit along Broadway.

Mr. O'Brien has been at Camp Upton since last spring, and he writes to friends here that the army of Uncle Sam is growing month by month, and that the Kaiser will realize at no distant date that the Tanks are on the firing line in France.

With Our Soldier Boys.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Reynolds have received a card announcing the safe arrival over seas of their son, George W. Reynolds.

Mrs. H. J. Perrine has received notice of the safe arrival in France of her husband, Sergeant H. J. Perrine, of Company K, 330th Infantry.

ADVERTISING
A Necessity

WHEN goods are scarce and prices high, people are more appreciative than ever of the right kind of advertising.

They are seeking information. They want to know how to buy to the best advantage.

They want to know how to fill their needs and avoid waste. They welcome news of desirable substitutes for the things the country needs to conserve.

They read the newspapers carefully.

The merchant or manufacturer who does not advertise is not only missing the purely selfish opportunity, but he is failing in the service he owes to his customers.

never has been a time in the history of our storekeeping when our clothes for men and boys have not been worth quite a little more than they sold for.

That means thrift in the broadest sense of the word, and today, with the climbing costs of materials, we say, buy now, and buy here.

Change N-O-W to W-O-N

Did you ever notice the similarity of the word "NOW" to "WON"? Separate the letters in the word "now," and you have "n-o-w." Spell it backwards and you have "w-o-n."

Isn't it plain that to be able to say I "won," I must do a thing now, and that the elements used for attaining the "won" column are largely built around the word "now"? Action or inaction now is the determining factor. The word "won" will never be written unless someone actually performs an act "now."

IT may seem a little "far fetched" to connect patriotism and Clothes; but if you think it over you'll see that these two may be related.

The government has urged everybody to save to help win the war; and that's a form of service that everybody can give the country; and patriotism is really a spirit of service to the country.

Now the saving as applied to Clothes is that true economy is in the quality you buy, the use you make of it, and the care you take of it.

Therefore—Buy only the best Clothes; take good care of them. You'll get more service in clothes by that method; and it will inevitably bring you to this store to ask for Kirschbaum or Hart Schaffner & Marx Clothes.

and another above those of the top shelf, with a knot tied upon the lower end of the cords, and a loop upon the upper end, to hold the spools together. The cords must be pulled tight, and the loops tied close to the top spools, to make the corner stiff.

Every girl needs a work box like that shown in Fig. 3. The only carpenter work necessary is the fastening together of the cover boards with a couple of strips nailed across them as shown in Fig. 5.

The box must be covered to conceal the roughness of the boards. A pretty figured cretonne looks well for the outside, and a plain colored lining is best for the inside.

Fig. 4 shows how a cloth pocket and elastic tapes should be tacked to the inside of the cover; also how to make a spool rack by driving nails into the cover and slipping rubber bands over the nail heads (Fig. 6) to keep the spools from dropping off.

A bolster roll to encase the pillow is quite the proper thing for a girl's bed, and a roll like that shown in Fig. 7 is not difficult to construct. Get two barrel hoops for the ends, and three wooden strips one-half inch thick and one and one-half inches wide with which to connect them (Fig. 10). The length of the strips should equal the width of the bed the roll is made for.

The diameter of the hoops must be made 11 inches from outside to outside. Remove the hoop fastenings, turn in the ends until the right diameter is obtained, and re-nail (Figs. 8 and 9). Connect the hoops with the strips, spacing these equidistantly around the inside.

Two-thirds of the framework must be covered with cardboard, the other third is left open. Cardboard boxes may be used for covering material. Bend this around the framework, being careful to curve each piece the same, and tack to each strip. Also cover the barrel hoop ends with cardboard (Fig. 11). Then re-enforce the cardboard with paper pasted lengthwise, both inside and out, to conceal the joints between the pieces of cardboard; also tack padding over the edges of the barrel-hoops. Then cover the entire roll with cambric lining.

Artificial Eyes for the Dead.

Oddly enough the first artificial eyes were not made for living persons but for the dead. In the days of the earliest Pharaohs the Egyptian embalmers removed the eyes of the defunct (for what would nowadays be called a "swell funeral"), poured plaster or wax into the sockets and set in the latter eyes of volcanic glass or semiprecious stone of one kind or another.

Suicide Statistics.

A study of suicide among wage earners in the United States by a life insurance company has brought out the fact that there are more suicides among men than among women, and fewer negroes seek death to end their troubles than white persons. The very shows also that there has been a marked decrease in the death rate from suicide in the last few years.

HANDICRAFT FOR GIRLS

By DOROTHY PERKINS

(Copyright by A. Neely Hall.)

FOR A GIRL'S ROOM.

What girl would not like to own the set of shelves shown in Fig. 1, to hang upon the wall in her room? The shelf boards should be about three-fourths inch thick and ten inches wide, by whatever length you wish to have them. Buy eight half-inch screw-eyes and screw one into each corner of each shelf; and get some heavy wrapping-twine on which to string the corner spools.

The illustrations show how the spools are strung, with a spool below the screw-eyes of the bottom shelf,

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT!

On September 1, 1913, the subscription price of the Daily Star will be advanced to $5 per year; single months, 50 cents; one week, 12 cents. These rates cover all subscriptions either by carrier or by mail.

This advance in subscription price has become imperative due to the advance in cost of producing the paper, but more especially because of the vastly larger expenditures for print paper, postage and labor.

In order that all subscribers may have equal opportunity payments on subscriptions at the old rate of $4 per year will be accepted during the month of August only. In no event will a payment extending a subscription beyond Jan. 1, 1919, be accepted. All who wish may pay to the last named date at the $4 rate.

It is hoped that all patrons will appreciate the fact that this action has been deferred until it has become imperative. With the co-operation of all present patrons it is believed that the publication of a daily newspaper of creditable dimensions can be continued—without which the city would be unfortunate indeed.

U.S. DEPT. OF AGRICULTURE

HOW TO CAN

GREENS OR POTTERBS

A large number of cultivated and wild greens are edible, and when canned make succulent and valuable food for the winter and spring months. Among the cultivated greens are Swiss chard, kale, Chinese cabbage leaves, upland cress, French endive, cabbage sprouts, turnip tops, young tender New Zealand spinach, beet tops, dandelion, young tender dandelion sprouts, native mustard, Russian mustard, collards, and tender rape leaves. Among the wild greens are pepper cress, lamb's-quarter, sour dock, smartweed sprouts, purslane, pokeweed sprouts, dandelion, and milkweed (tender sprouts and young leaves).

Can greens the same day they are picked. Wash clean, sort thoroughly, allowing no foreign weed leaves or other vegetable matter to remain. Rid the greens of all sand, dirt, and dry, decayed or diseased leaves. Place the greens in a crate or cheesecloth and blanch in live steam either in an improvised homemade steamer, or regular commercial steamer, for 15 minutes. Remove the greens and plunge quickly into cold water. Remove to a freshly scalded pan or vessel and cut into convenient lengths. Pack into hot jars, add hot water to fill the container, and season to taste. If desired, a few strips of bacon, chopped beef, beef, or olive oil may be added to the greens. Partially seal jars.

Processing with steam under pressure is recommended. Process pint jars 40 minutes under steam pressure of ten pounds. Seal immediately, cool in a place free from drafts, test for leaks, and store in a dark, cool, dry place.

If the intermittent boiling process is used, boil for one hour on each of three successive days. Loosen the covers before each subsequent boiling, and after each boiling seal completely. Cool, test for leaks, and store.

If the one-period continuous boiling process is used, boil for at least two hours. Seal immediately, cool, test for leaks, and store.—United States Department of Agriculture.

Could Not Save Comrade.

A fruitless but daring attempt to rescue a man under the most unfavorable conditions was recently made by William R. Ransford, a seaman of the national naval volunteers, and Allen J. Jackson, a wardroom cook. The man lost was a seaman named W. A. Wells. He slipped and fell overboard from the forward turret of the U. S. S. Iowa. It was cold weather and the water was full of floating ice. Nevertheless Ransford and Jackson went overboard after the man, but were unable to save him from drowning.

Meteors Timidly Hide Away.

If the August meteors, which are always down on the calendar for the nights of the ninth and tenth, made any efforts in the way of a summer display for 1918, their efforts were not visible in Oneonta. The clouds were too dense, and so far as the audience was concerned there was nothing doing. Those, however, who are interested in shooting stars, may have opportunity to witness them in November, when a fine display is assured, of which due announcement of hour and day will presently be given.

MAKES FORTUNE
BY SMUGGLING

Swedish "Rubber Baron" Tells How He Profited by Trading on Frontier.

WAS CLERK BEFORE THE WAR

Made His First Money Dealing in Russian Rubles—Then Engaged in Smuggling Rubber from Finland and Gets Rich Quickly.

Stockholm, Sweden.—"You want to know what people smuggle? Go up the river then, and you will soon find out. They smuggle nearly everything, so it is rather difficult to answer the question offhand." So said a custom house officer at Haparanda, the little Swedish town on the frontier of Finland, to Herbert Ericson, a Swedish writer, who went up the Tornea valley to investigate the smuggling stories.

"While I was waiting for the Over-Tornea train to start, a motorcycle chugged into the station yard," said Ericson.

"That is one of our rubber barons," remarked an acquaintance to me. "A rubber baron, in Haparanda talk, is a man who suddenly gets rich on smuggling rubber in from Finland."

Ericson was in luck, for the baron—Karlsson—will call him—traveled north in my compartment. He was a pleasant fellow. He did not remind me in my smart speculators I had met in Norway. He even looked embarrassed when I began to talk about smuggling.

Clerk Before the War.

"Presently he told me that at the outbreak of the war he had been a clerk in one of Norway's coast towns. He had earned his money in rubles."

"It is not generally known that many hundred Swedes have made big fortunes out of rubles. It happened like this: After the occupation of Poland and other regions of Russia, the Germans found that the population refused to take marks in payment for such supplies as were paid for. The people demanded rubles, and rubles the Germans did not have. The only way of getting them was through Sweden. The Russian government permitted no more than 500 to be taken out of the government by each traveler, but with the incentive of a good reward smugglers were not lacking. The Haparanda agents bought up these rubles and sent them down to Germany by bales."

"When the Germans had bought all the rubles they wanted Karlsson tried to smuggle drugs to Finland. That failed absolutely. He met with a disaster at the outset. His first consignment of several kilos of acetylsalicylic acid and 100 clinical thermometers was seized by the Swedish customs authorities and a heavy fine was imposed."

"So he got into touch with some Finnish merchants who, for a price, guaranteed to have a large quantity of rubber rings on the Swedish side of the river at a certain minute on a certain day."

"Entering into relations with a firm in Stockholm and finding that he could make many thousand kroner profit thereby, Karlsson told the Finns to go ahead. One night he went to Marilla, where the rubber was to be ready. Marilla is a tiny station on the Haparanda-Over-Tornea stretch of railway, and almost on the bank of the river."

No Sign of Customs Officer.

"When he arrived there was no sign of a Russian custom house officer across stream. The revolution has altered matters. The Cossacks who used to patrol the Russian shore had disappeared. The new guards appointed by the revolutionaries found it more interesting to stay in Tornea. Karlsson picked up the rubber. This was only the first of a chain of such transactions he managed with financial success."

"Karlsson has meticulously taken the goods so smuggled to the Swedish customs authorities, to be assessed for duty. Quantities of tin, flour and linseed oil have similarly come over the river for many months past. Tin gives the Finns an advantage. I found one case where a druggist had come to grief by taking delivery of and paying heavily for a thousand kilos of a cheap alloy. The flour smuggling seems to indicate that the Finns engaged must be blackguards of a particularly obnoxious type, for they ship flour out of their land while they know that tens of thousands of their fellow countrymen are nearly starving and that their government is sending out commissions full of pious appeals to other lands, America included, to spare them a little flour. It seems curious that these commissions could not have galvanized a guard to put a stop to the drain of flour there."

Weary World for the Pup.

Russell, four, was delighted when his grandma gave him a puppy for his birthday, so we were rather surprised a couple of days later when he announced that he was going to send "Daisy" back home again to grandma. I said, "Why, Russell, I thought you liked your little puppy." He said, "I do like her, mamma, but she's not happy. She hasn't smiled since she came."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

DUTY TO CITY AND NATION

Outlined in Timely Address at Methodist Episcopal Church Last Evening by Secretary C. E. Westervelt.

"No man or woman ought to be permitted to live in a community and not contribute to the constructive work of that community," declared Secretary C. E. Westervelt of the Oneonta Chamber of Commerce in the course of an excellent address delivered at the First Methodist Episcopal church last evening. His theme being "Our Responsibilities to Our Country and to Our City." The attendance was good and the attention marked. In opening his remarks Mr. Westervelt used the quotation: "Among a thousand men who talk, but one thinks; among a thousand men who think, but one sees." Out of this small number of men who see have come the men who have been the builders of nations, the founders of empires and the benefactors of the race the speaker said.

Upon the relation of church people to the nation he said in part:

"So long as the great body of Americans believe and feel that the Stars and Stripes stand for human liberty, that wherever our flag goes man is honored because he is a man, womanhood is sacred, childhood is protected and the government of the people is established and guaranteed, just so long as the great American class rest in that assurance, the spirit of the fathers will possess their hearts and our nation with its growing millions will be invincible. But let the feeling preclude the community that we are looking for martial glory or for financial gain, that their government is dictated by selfish and soulless trusts and combinations of capital, caring nothing for the intelligence, or the morals of the liberties of the people, then you have poisoned the spirit of American manhood. You will soon take the red blood from the veins of the boys who make soldiers when that feeling possesses a land. God pity America if the time ever comes when the commercial spirit shall become the predominant characteristic note of our national life. In these times it is our charge to guard the spirit bequeathed by our fathers and the one thing that can save us from this loss is the awakening of the great Christian citizenship of the country to its duty."

Later he declared: "He serves his country's welfare best who seeks to promote righteousness and truth. What the citizens of this nation are, the nation itself will be. Each one of us if we are right hearted and right minded must wish for the true prosperity of our beloved country. Our interests are bound up in her welfare. Here high principles of government are being put to the test, and we believe in them and wish them to succeed."

Referring to the duties we all owe the city the speaker said in part: "It is said that the measure of man's sanity is his ability to cooperate with his fellowmen. No man ought to be permitted to live in a community and not contribute to the constructive work of that community. Another problem is to make workers out of jokers and shirkers. The joker will drive you to a certain point and then jerk away. The man who does not work for the interest of a community with his time and money and moral force is a shirker. Social conditions can be improved in almost any town. Sanitation and care of public health are the greatest factors to this or any other community."

In closing he used the following:

Wanted.

God give us men! A time like this demands

Strong minds, great hearts, true faith, and ready hands;

Men whom the lust of office does not kill;

Men whom the spoils of office cannot buy;

Men who possess opinions and a will;

Men who have honor—men who will not lie;

Tall men, sun-crowned, who live above the fog

In public duty, and in private thinking.

For with the rabble, with their thumb-worn creeds,

Their large professions and their little deeds.

Mingle in selfish strife, lo! Freedom weeps.

Wrong rules the land, and waiting

Justice sleeps!

My country, first, then my community

As a man thinketh, so is he; as a city thinketh so is it!

Delaware Farm Cadets Picnic.

A party of 19 boys from New York city schools, who are employed on the farms of Delaware county, were in Oneonta Saturday on their way to Oneonta lake for a day's outing. The boys were accompanied by Prof. F. R. Robinson and by T. F. Kane, who have oversight of the farm cadets in this section. The party, after a trip about Coopersville, are a picnic dinner at Three Mile point and afterwards enjoyed a trip around the lake. The party was under obligation to E. A. Mackey and Leroy Evans of Franklin, who furnished autos for the trip.

On the previous Saturday a company of 25 other boys of the Cadet corps were given a trip to Ashokan dam, cars being furnished by Superintendent Dubois of the Delhi Agricultural school, Russell Archibald and Mrs. H. W. Cannon.

SCRAPPED

Autoists discarded 12,000,000 tires during the last year. These tires represent $350,000,000. How much of that $350,000,000 could have been saved if every tire had been as near perfection as the manufacturer could make it? How much could you have saved if your tires had been up to the highest standard?

The "House of Brunswick" maintains this high standard. It strives to make its tires achieve lasting qualities that will make users say Brunswick tires are as near perfect as tires can be.

Have you ever stopped to consider that in the last few years there have been as many improvements in auto tires as in the car itself? This is a fact. Most car owners realize that tires are important things; but they know less about tires than about any other part of their cars.

When you buy tires we suggest that you look for a name that stands for quality. Brunswick is that name. They please the man who drives. And they please the man who pays the bills—for we believe there is more endurance in these Brunswick Tires than in any other fabric tire ever built. Try one and you will be as enthusiastic about them as we are. Choose the tread that suits you best. The Non-Skid, the Ribbed Tread or the Smooth—each will give you more mileage than you are used to. Remember the guarantee—it protects you.
